Strengths (including why)

We participated in the memory tests to directly observe in ourselves what you were trying to get across. This made things personal and concrete - so we can remember!

Areas for Improvement (including how)

How do we go an use what we learned - I would have like a handout or final activity, perhaps, that would help us use the concepts you covered to design a short learning experience (say a 2-5 minutes in-class exercise) that we might use in our own classes and then get feedback on it based on a set of guidelines.

Insight (including significance)

More and shorter activities for my students may be more effective than fewer longer ones.
